ABOUT ODCP

ODCP is an academic-cum-application-oriented course of ISABS for working professionals across all functional areas of organisational life. Spread over 18 months, this learning program provides participants with conceptual knowledge, process skills, competencies, multiple tools & practices needed for performing various OD roles in organizations as an internal or external consultant.

Organisations today are expected to be both, externally sensitive and internally agile. Their holistic growth and development require varied interventions. People and systems-related interventions aim to enhance the quality of human capital, relationships and processes within organisations. OD practitioners strive to manage change and transformation, while working with people, processes and culture within organisations, that are necessarily embedded within a complex, global and diverse world.

The OD Certification Programme is founded upon the four key aspects indicated below which depict the critical areas of learning. These are fundamental to becoming an OD practitioner and the learning process entails strengthening each of these pillars. OD is essentially a 'practice of understanding and interpretation of organization for' co-creation of processes that enables individuals and groups, within organizations, to facilitate desired change and enhance organizational effectiveness.

FRAMEWORK OF ISABS-ODCP

ISABS & OD

Registered in 1972, Indian Society for Applied Behavioural Science (ISABS) is a national, voluntary society of behavioural scientists engaged in applying their knowledge and skills to the wellbeing of persons, organisations, communities and the society at large.

Its members, spread across the country, work in various roles as academicians, human resource development managers, independent consultants, trainers, counsellors and community change agents.

ISABS's core strength lies in its understanding of human processes at individual, group and system levels—a core competence to facilitate lasting change in organisations. The story of OD in India is also the story of ISABS. From the late 1960's, pioneers in the field of OD in India were developing programs for Internal Change Agents and Facilitators. Indian Behavioural scientists such as Udai Pareek, Pulin Garg, Dharni Sinha, Somnath Chattopadhyay, Manohar Nadkarni, Abad Ahmad, Ishwar Dayal and Francis Menezes, to name a few, were some of the founders of ISABS as also the first practitioners of OD in India, who made path-breaking contributions to the field of OD. ISABS is continuing to take this legacy forward.

The OD Certification Programme (ODCP) is a natural extension and embodies the very essence of ISABS' philosophy and heritage of process work expertise available within ISABS.

WHO CAN APPLY

Graduate Degree in any discipline (post-graduation will be an added advantage) Experience of 5+ years in:

- Managerial position in any organisation - faculty in educational institute
- Role of an entrepreneur/ independent business consultant

It is essential that the individual have an interest in understanding and facilitating individuals, groups and systemic dynamics and towards building effective organisations.

ODCP PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

- Develop and refine professional competencies anchored in behavioural science to facilitate Organisation Development.
- Become an Organisation Development consultant - internal or external.
- Learn about human and systemic processes that impact and facilitate change.
- Prepare for leadership positions in change processes to move organisations towards greater effectiveness.

PROGRAMME FOCUS

- Concepts and theoretical foundation of OD, elements of OD
- Human processes that play out at individual, group and system levels in organisations.
- Assimilation of conceptual knowledge through application and practice.
- A hybrid learning experience anchored by the dual support system of 'learning facilitator' and 'coach', and reinforced with assignments and ongoing feedback. The methodology includes experiential learning, self-exploration through instruments, case study analysis as well as conceptual inputs and discussions. A hands-on application project is also a requirement. Online discussions to exchange insights and clarify doubts create a learning partnership between participants and faculty. Adequate shadow consulting and development coaching are offered by the ODCP Academic Committee, faculty and coaches in each region.
- Academic rigour is inbuilt through 'action research' methodology; by seeing the processes that happen within themselves and in the learning group as a microcosm of an organization, the participants develop a robust understanding of how to put theory to practice. Through this they also learn how to facilitate change at different levels.

FACULTY

The programme faculty consists of eminent OD and behavioural science professionals and academicians. They come with rich experience of working in different kinds of client systems locally and globally, in roles of internal and external practitioners.

ACADEMIC DESIGN

[CM = Contact Module; VLS – Virtual Learning Session; PLS - Peer Learning Session; AP = Application and Practice]

NOTE TO LEARNERS

- Contact Modules will take place at different locations
- VLS Sessions will be anchored by prominent faculty or subject matter experts
- Exact dates and venue will be communicated in advance
- The schedule may undergo changes as per the decision of the Director and Academic Council
- Given the preference for increased flexibility during the pandemic and ensuing safety precautions, the program will be delivered in a hybrid fashion where, some sessions or some aspects of a Contact Module would be delivered in a virtual platform while some will be delivered in-person. This decision will be taken by the APC as per the situation prevalent at that time

TESTIMONIALS

Be ready to be surprised by both, the curriculum and the pedagogy of ODCP.

To me, ODCP was going behind the obvious beyond the data into the story behind the story.

It meant understanding the processes going on around me whether it be the people, groups or systems, and - most importantly - within me. The program gives you comprehensive conceptual knowledge and ample opportunities to apply the learnings. To top it all, ODCP is brought to you by the finest team of OD practitioners who have won national and international accolades.

Rahul Yadwadkar, Sr. V. P. & Head-Customer Service -Reliance Energy ODCP Batch 6

The program opened my eyes to aspects that we take for granted – real problems that go unseen in most organisations and in the community, at large. What I've been able to leverage is creating spaces for Helping Relationships at an individual level and Process Consultation at an organizational level. The program also enabled me to understand my own patterns of interaction with individuals and organisations. I would strongly recommend this program even if it has slightly caught your interest. Just go for it and enjoy the ride!"

Linda Baptista, Executive Coach & OD Consultant - ODCP Batch 7

ODCP is the best journey I ever had. I joined it to learn more about OD techniques but like Alice in Wonderland, I wandered into a wonderful self-exploration. It's made me a better person who is better able to understand the world around me and the humanness and dynamics in everything and hence a better OD Professional. My approach towards my work initiatives have changed and the feedback from my stakeholders has made me realize the value of all that I have learnt. The faculty, mentors and coaches are all fantastic people who genuinely want to help. It is certainly one of the best programs in OD

Dipti Vijaykumar, Assistant Vice President – OD, First Meridian Business Services, ODCP Batch 12

In my role as an agile coach, I was noticing the roadblocks that the agile community was coming across while influencing a sustainable, meaningful mindset shift in leaders and organisation culture. I sensed the need of building a knowledge base for the subject matter and competencies in myself to be able to stay rooted and continue swimming against the tide as a change agent. That's when I came across OD and human process work and ISABS as the only institute in India where I could learn more about it.

I found a lot of answers during my ODCP journey. The hidden treasure of self-transformation as a person during this course will always stay with me. Opening up myself to knowing who I am as a person and tracing that back to how I came to be that person was the most challenging and yet most enjoyable part of the ODCP program

. I feel fortunate to have learnt from extraordinary faculty and coaches who have contributed to the area of OD and process work globally. Getting that exposure to the world class quality of teaching makes joining the ODCP program one of the best professional and personal decisions that I recently made. Due to the depths of the concepts that we explored during the program, I feel very well equipped to be an OD professional , coach and a change agent.
